

MCW IRB Committee Procedure

REVIEW AND EVALUATION OF IRB MEMBER SERVICE

Unit: Human Research Protections Program (HRPP), Office of Research

Applies to: Institutional Review Board Committees

PURPOSE:

Review and evaluation of IRB members provides a mechanism for feedback regarding their application of federal regulations, institutional policies and procedures, local, state, and tribal law, and ethical principles, as well as their overall contributions to the MCW IRB Committees in reviewing human subject research.

The purpose of the evaluation is for the HRPP Director and IRB Chairs to consider how each member fulfills their role and to identify any need for a change in appointment, including reappointment, need for additional education or removal of a current IRB member.

It is expected that IRB members will demonstrate ongoing development of skills and knowledge during their service as MCW IRB Committee members.

DEFINITIONS:

- 5. Based upon the information from the review and evaluation HRPP Director and IRB Chair will determine to continue the service of the members and/or if additional education may be needed.
